

Beanpot Committee Announce 2022 Hall of Fame Inductee

Boston, MA (Jan. 28, 2022) - Jim Madigan, who played a part in six of Northeastern's seven Beanpot championships, has been named the 2022 Beanpot Hall of Fame inductee. He is the 15th Northeastern representative to be inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Madigan, now the Director of Athletics and Recreation at Northeastern, won two Beanpot titles as a player (1984, 1985), one as an assistant coach (1988) and three as a head coach (2018, 2019, 2020). He is one of just three people in tournament history to win a Beanpot as a player, assistant coach and head coach (Boston University's Jack Parker and David Quinn).

Madigan also guided the Huskies to their first of three consecutive Beanpot titles in 2018, ending a 30-year drought. As a head coach, he was 11-7 (.611) in the Beanpot.

Madigan will be presented with this award during an on-ice ceremony prior to the Beanpot Tournament Championship game on Monday, February 14, 2022 at TD Garden.

FOR MEDIA USE: Remarks from Jim Madigan, Director of Athletics and Recreation at Northeastern University & 2022 Beanpot Hall of Fame Recipient

"The significance of this tournament to the four schools and the City of Boston is unmatched, and when I think of the iconic names who have come before, to be included in the Beanpot Hall of Fame with incredibly gifted players, coaches and administrators is tremendously humbling."

"I have had the unique opportunity to participate in the Beanpot in a variety of roles at Northeastern University over the last 35 years, and all the while I have been fortunate to be surrounded by talented teammates, coaches, and support staff. This honor recognizes all of their accomplishments, as well."

"To be part of such an exclusive group is a privilege, and I would like to thank the Beanpot Committee for this recognition. I look forward to an exciting tournament in 2022 as we return to TD Garden for the first two Mondays in February."
